Inside, we find ourselves stepping into a time capsule of traditional craftsmanship, where stone, tile and wrought iron combine to stately effect. The living space is introduced by the first of two reception halls, featuring decorative tile wainscoting and a fine staircase rising to the upper level, illuminated by a pool of natural light from the vaulted lightwell above. Also on the ground floor are four bedrooms, a family bathroom and a kitchen.

On the second floor is the dining room, second kitchen, five bedrooms, second bathroom and access to a graciously proportioned terrace with direct garden access.

The new owners of this unique period townhouse will have a chance to put their own stamp on the interior, just as long as the listed façade, with its smart coat of arms and beautiful glazed balconies, is preserved for posterity.

This is a wonderful opportunity to purchase a stunning heritage property with enormous potential.

This unique period townhouse is located in a town packed with architectural treasures, some dating back to medieval times, and makes a wonderful base for exploring the surrounding countryside.
