The beaches are also nearby, about 40 minutes away.

Located in the chestnut forest at almost a thousand meters of altitude and more than two centuries old, this Casona Asturiana was completely restored and rehabilitated in 2011, and today it dominates from the heights the three valleys of Llananzanes to which it has access.

To the farm, of more than 4.000 m², is accessed by a height path of spectacular beauty. It has three individual houses of 90 m² with two rooms that can accommodate up to eight tenants each, and thanks to its intelligent architecture it can adapt and become a single interconnected house with capacity for twenty people.

With its structure made of wood, each room has a surface of 20 m² and ceilings almost three meters high, in addition to having large windows overlooking the mountains, valleys and surrounding forests.

The two heights of each house allow to distribute the elements efficiently, leaving the two rooms on the upper floor accompanied by a bathroom, while the lower one houses a living room with dining room and wood burning fireplace, integrated kitchen with ceramic hob and fully equipped and a second bathroom

It also has several rest areas along the meadow, in addition to private parking and a recreation area with barbecue, benches, own fountain and several plots of fruit trees and forest.

A very good opportunity in a unique location.
